IN MEMORIAM.

“WHEREAS, the news of the death of our esteemed colleague, William Gold Hibbard, Jr., has come as a profound and sorrowful shock to the members of this Board of Trustees of St. Luke’s Hospital and has brought to mind his admirable virtues and the many years of generous and effective service rendered by him, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED: That the Board hereby records its sense of high esteem and appreciation of William Gold Hibbard, Jr. as a man of most admirable and virtuous character, of exceptional capacity and will to work for the welfare and advancement of his fellows, generosity and love for mankind which recognized no limits of race or place. We attach to his memory our most sincere and grateful tribute.”

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

To the Board of Corporators and Trustees of St. Luke's Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I beg to submit herewith the Annual Report for the year ending December 31, 1919. The details of the work will be found in the departmental reports which follow but I feel it my duty to present to you a summary of the conditions of which you are doubtless well aware as applied to every day affairs but possibly do not fully realize apply with equal or even greater force to the financing of charitable institutions.

The enormous rise in prices of practically everything and especially in pay rolls has been felt with greater force during the last few months than at any time before and, while it is true that rates to patients have increased, they have not increased in the same ratio as costs, and further, the returns from our very modest endowment have not increased at all. Contributions available for current expenses have been, as in past years, a negligible quantity.

The report of our Auditors shows a net loss for the year of $21,276.21. The income from endowments and real estate available for current expenses was $44,984.93. Contributions from individuals amounted to $4,453.06, from Churches $290.00, for supported beds $4,173.50.

Under present conditions, without assistance, it will be impossible to maintain a free list of from thirty to forty per cent of our patients as well as about fifty per cent of the pay patients at rates which do not meet the full cost of their care.

It is of course wholly unnecessary to present arguments or evidence as to the absolute need for the work which the Hospital does, in so far as its means will permit, and it ought to be unnecessary to do more than make known the imperative necessity for adequate support. To sum the whole matter up in a few words, to maintain our old standard we must have an income available for current expenses from services outside the earnings of the Institution of not less than $100,000.00 per annum and further if the Hospital is to progress, a sum of not less than $2,000,000.00 must be secured for new buildings and equipments.

It is at once a duty and a pleasure to make acknowledgment of the most valuable assistance rendered by the Woman's Board and its many Committees. I would commend these reports to your especial attention.

It is also my pleasure to extend to the Medical Board the thanks of the Board of Trustees for their unflagging interest in the welfare of the Hospital and all its patients.

The Hospital was remembered in the Will of the late Miss Gertrude Augusta Mitchel which provides that the Hospital shall receive one-seventh of the residuary estate after the death of certain relatives.

Mrs. Josephine Newman Smith of Jacksonville, Ill. bequeathed the Hospital the sum of Six Hundred Dollars per year for a period of ten years to care for poor French children whose parents are unable to pay for adequate service.

Mr. Henry H. Getty bequeathed the Hospital the sum of $5,000.00 the income of which is to be devoted solely to the care and maintenance of the "Carrie Eliza Getty Ward."

Mrs. Charles W. Brega, for many years a close friend of the Institution, gave in her will the sum of $5,000.00 as an endowment for a bed in a ward.

Mr. Henry Botsford bequeathed the sum of $3,000.00 to be used for the general purposes of the Hospital.

I also acknowledge the gift of Mrs. Hathaway Watson of the sum of $780.00, to be used for the support of a wet nurse in the Hospital.

I desire to give expression to my keen appreciation of the interest shown by all connected with the Hospital, and especially for the efficient services of all the officers and those employed under them.

W. J. BRYSON,
President.

Free and Part Pay Patients

The Hospital cares for an average of about one hundred and twenty wholly free patients and will, when there are vacant beds in the open wards, receive patients whose means are limited for any sum which they may be able to pay, and those without means as free patients, provided they are admissible under the rule governing the admission of patients.

Applications for the admission of patients, who are unable to apply in person, must be made prior to sending them, and should be made between the hours of nine A. M. and five P. M. All promises of admission are made subject to the result of an examination, as to admissibility, on their arrival at the Hospital.

Persons making application on behalf of others should be able to furnish concise information on the following points:

The nature of the disease or injury.

The duration of the disease or the date of the injury.

Present condition of the patient.

What treatment if any has been received?

Is the patient able to pay the full rate, or pay in part, or is he or she a proper subject for admission as a free patient?

Patients will in the usual course be received only between the hours of nine A. M. and five P. M., but emergency cases will be received at any hour.

EXTRACT FROM THE RULES.

"The Hospital is for the treatment of acute, curable, non-contagious diseases and injuries. The following are inadmissible: Sufferers from contagious, dangerously infectious, or incurable diseases, cancers of an incurable and offensive nature, drug habits, delirium tremens, insanity, venereal diseases, phthisis and persons whose presence in the wards would be prejudicial to the welfare of the other patients."

"Patients who refuse to accept the treatment prescribed by the Medical Staff, or refuse to comply with the reasonable instructions of the physicians or nurses, or who wilfully violate the rules of the Hospital will be discharged."

REPORT OF GENERAL MANAGER.

To the Board of Trustees:

The results of the fiscal year just ended, as might have been expected, are not entirely satisfactory and the necessity of keeping expenses at the lowest possible point has been burdensome in the extreme. The maximum of high costs in all directions and especially in wages has not yet been reached and the indications point toward a further rise in expenses of every kind during the next few months. It has been impossible to make various desired additions to equipment and personnel.

The nursing situation in general is peculiarly difficult but in this respect we are very fortunate and do not apprehend any serious trouble. The labor question not only as to wages but also as to efficiency is the most serious problem with which we are confronted and improvement still appears distant. Increases in taxes, assessments and insurance premiums due to appreciation of real estate values are also a matter of some moment.

The difficulty of doing good and efficient work in the the old buildings becomes greater year by year and the most regrettable feature is that the poor are the chief sufferers. Building costs are high but even this sinks into insignificance when the extreme needs of the present are considered.

The volume of work done is large and it is well done but it does not nearly meet the demands and is being carried on under almost impossible conditions. It is interesting to note in this connection that eighty-eight and a fraction per cent of our income is earned—notwithstanding that one-third of our patients are free and one-third pay less than cost. The statistics show a small increase in the number of patients treated and a small decrease in patient days.

Our outstanding needs are: funds for new buildings for ward patients; increased income to meet enhanced costs of operation and maintenance and endowments or support for research work in the laboratories.

The Social Service Department, now supported entirely by the Social Service Committee of the Woman's Board, is doing a remarkable work but is sadly hampered by inadequate and poorly located space.

A MESSAGE FROM THE MEDICAL BOARD.

At no time in the history of the Hospital has there been a greater spirit of earnestness, a more unselfish desire to serve humanity nor a closer co-operation between the management, the nursing staff, and the medical staff than is manifest today. There seems to have been born a new spirit,—a broadened vision of what the Hospital would mean to the community and to those seeking succor within its portals. It seems only fitting, therefore, that the Trustees and the friends of St. Luke's should be fully acquainted with the ambitions and ideals of the Medical Board for a broader scope of usefulness in their Hospital work.

St. Luke's is now fifty-six years old. It has grown from a ten bed to a four hundred bed hospital. In 1909 the new building, known as the Smith Memorial, was completed, and its one hundred and twenty-five beds have since been used for pay patients. The old building, facing Indiana Ave. has one hundred and seventy-three ward beds. A small two-story addition has been added to this building, consisting of one hundred and two beds for women and children. In all there are two hundred and seventy-five ward beds available for the ward patients, and forty per cent of these are used for free patients.

For many years the Trustees, the Medical Board and the Management of the Hospital have recognized the fact that this old building was totally unfit and inadequate for hospital purposes. In words of the Trustees, it is now a "mere shell, out-worn, yet renovated and made to serve its make-shift purpose of yielding shelter and relief to human agony." In spite of the terrible handicap of obsolete and made over buildings, the Management has made it possible, at an ever increasing financial loss, for the Medical Staff to render good service to the patients. Each year, however, is making this task more difficult and the time has arrived when a new building must be provided or St. Luke's must lose the prestige and position which it has gained through its long term of service to suffering humanity.

There are one hundred and eighty-five nurses constantly in training at the Hospital. In spite of the fact of dearth of applicants, the Training School has maintained its high standards and has an ever increasing number of young women with broad education seeking admittance to the Nurses' Training School. The training of the nurses has been extended to include training in visiting nursing, in social service, in occupational therapy, and public health. These fields must be enlarged in order that our nurses may be graduated with a well rounded training, fully equipped to serve their communities as a whole as well as the individual case.

No department of the Hospital has reflected more credit on the Institution than the Pathological Laboratory. The excellent bacteriological and chemical work has been a source of satisfaction and pride to the staff but the inadequate housing of this department is adding greatly to its cost and its preventing the Hospital from taking a leading place in the development of medical science.

The X-Ray Department is being ably managed, but from the standpoint of economics compares unfavorably with the Pathological Laboratory. In most hospitals the X-Ray department is expected to take care of itself and, is therefore, more nearly on a commercial basis than the other laboratories. The private patient pays the usual rates for X-Ray examinations, whereas he enjoys the benefits of the most complicated and difficult chemical and bacteriological studies almost gratis. A special endowment of the X-Ray Laboratory would tend to bring the valuable aid of the X-Ray to all classes of patients at a greatly reduced expense.

Many of the medical and surgical services at the Hospital have established follow-up clinics where discharged patients can report back at stated intervals for examination and advice. The effect of their home conditions and occupations upon their physical states are noted and often, through the aid of the Social Service Department, the deleterious conditions are removed. In this way a practical system of prevention of new diseases and of recurrences of the old disease is being developed.

For five years St. Luke's has had a Social Service Department which has rendered valuable assistance in the homes of our poor patients, has removed many extraneous worries which have tended to delay recovery and has acted as the friend and adviser to numbers of our patients. Recently this Social Department has been reorganized and adequately financed by the Woman's Board of the Hospital. It is hoped that by co-operating with other relief agencies in the City, some service can be rendered to every ward patient. It is the ideal of the Hospital, aided by its Social Service Department, to see that every ward patient is cured of his ailment as far as is humanly possible; is placed in the best environment possible to fully convalesce; and finally is supervised until he again becomes a useful economic unit of society, before the interest of the Hospital in the patient is relinquished.

The Occupational Therapy Department of the Hospital is rendering valuable service in securing this maximum restoration of our patients.

PLANS AND IDEALS FOR FUTURE WORK.

Few institutions in the country have the opportunity of perpetuating their usefulness and of influencing the health and well being of the nation that is afforded hospitals. The immediate care of the sick and injured is their primary work, but the training of thousands of nurses and internes who go out into every community of the land, setting up standards which they have been taught is equally fundamental work of the Hospital. It behooves the Hospital, therefore, to develop the highest of standards and to see to it that these young men and women are given the best possible training. This, in a word, typifies the ideal of St. Luke's Hospital. In meeting this ideal the patients will naturally receive the very best of care.

The future plans for the Medical and Surgical Services necessitates the installation of a number of modern scientific instruments and apparatus, such as electrocardiograph, a portable X-Ray, various appliances for fracture and orthopaedic work, etc. There is also great need for a thoroughly equipped Physiotherapy Department available for all ward cases.

Our increased knowledge concerning focal infections, especially in the teeth, as the cause and prevention of disease makes it imperative that the Hospital have a well equipped Dental Department with a dental interne on the house staff.

Today an out-patient dispensary is recognized as one of the most essential features of a comprehensive hospital service. Many patients could become out-patients earlier if there was a dispensary which would attend to their future treatments. The logical place for such a dispensary is in connection with the hospital where the original treatment was given. Furthermore, this dispensary would afford a suitable means of following up patients after they left the Hospital. It should be open every night with some member of the staff in attendance in order that those who must work could receive its benefits with the least economic loss.

One of the greatest needs, not only for St. Luke's, but for all hospitals in Chicago, is an adequate convalescent center. A great many chronic cases are held in the Hospital simply because their home environment is not suitable for convalescence. The Hospital could be freed of this burden and the patient would recover more rapidly, if a well organized convalescent center was provided.

Practically all our Hospital plans for the betterment of service hinge upon more space, modern wards and better equipment. The new building, therefore, is the most pressing need confronting St. Luke's today. Without it we cannot hope to maintain our standing as one of the three best hospitals in the City. To advance or retrograde is the crisis confronting this institution.

Without question greater comfort and better service could be rendered ward patients in small, sanitary wards, instead of the large, antiquated ones now in use. Again there is a continual demand for lower priced rooms and small wards for the men and women in moderate circumstances who refuse to enter the Hospital as free patients and yet cannot afford to pay the excessive prices necessary to maintain the present private rooms. The great majority of our private patients must mortgage their future earnings in order to meet the present minimum price of seven dollars per day for a private room. The new buildings composed of small wards and moderate priced private rooms is the only method at hand to correct these conditions.

With a better understanding of the needs of the Hospital and a closer co-operation between the Trustees and the Medical Board and with both striving earnestly and unselfishly for these ideals of service, these plans for the future of St. Luke's will be made possible. The board desires to offer its active co-operation in any forward movement along these lines that the Trustees may inaugurate.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

To the Board of Trustees of St. Luke's Hospital.

The thirty-fifth annual report of St. Luke's Hospital Training School for Nurses covers a period almost as trying as the preceding year. The general unrest, consequent upon the termination of European hostilities, the difficulty in obtaining labor, has called for greater effort on the part of the nursing service.

The shortage of graduate nurses for the private duty field may be due in part to the large number who have returned from overseas having chosen the public health service, where opportunities are unlimited.

The supply of student nurses not equalling the demand calls for introspection on our part, when probably no other profession presents so wide a field or prepares a student for so many activities as does modern nursing.

Occasionally the criticism is passed on the length of the course in training being to some extent responsible for the lack of applicants. This can hardly be true when women's colleges requiring four years in high school and four years in college are crowded beyond all precedent. Are we not finding the solution to our problem in the changing of conditions in our training schools, and in the trend of public thought,—to place nursing education on a par with women's education in other fields and in endeavoring to mould our curriculum on a college basis; in shortening our hours of daily service, and in planning a definite place for recreational classes and organized activities for play.

During the year our schedule of a day on a Hospital duty has been planned on an eight hour basis, with the exception of Sunday, and one day weekly, when students are off duty half of the day. Monthly vacations each year have been inaugurated—opportunity has been given the students to specialize within the third year in one of the following departments: surgery, obstetrics, pediatrics, X-Ray, social service, occupational therapy, public health (with the School of Civics and Philanthropy), orthopedics and industrial nursing as obtained in our examining and admitting departments—or as executive in medical or surgical nursing.

Regular classes have been established in occupational therapy.

The marked benefit of the work of the Training School Committee under Mrs. C. B. Borland is felt throughout the school—particularly in the monthly social gatherings which are so valuable; together with the weekly class in physical education, carried on through the kindness of Mrs. Pirie.

True appreciation is expressed by the nurses to Mrs. Henry Walker for the enlarged gymnasium and the comfortable seats provided—to the Committee and Mrs. Hewitt for refurnishing the student's reception room,—also to members whose kindly thought so often provided tickets for concert and opera.

There have been four changes in the Training School Staff—Miss Ella Best, R. N., who resigned to continue her studies at Columbia University, and was succeeded by Miss Edna Lowe, R. N. Miss Matilda Van Hove, R. N., resigned to be married, succeeded by Miss Louise Davenport, R. N. Miss Lenore Crompton, R. N., resigned to be married, succeeded by Miss Myrtle Jones, R. N. Miss Georgia Jinks, R. N. resigned to be married, succeeded by Miss Ethel Roose, R. N.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT.

To the Board of Trustees, St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago.

GENTLEMEN :—In common with the rest of the world, we of the United States have been passing through troublous times during the past year. National disaster as well as institutional and individual degeneracy threatens unless the moral fibre of the people can be developed to a high standard and maintained. But one solution of our problem is there, as many hard headed business men declare, though considering the situation merely from an economic viewpoint. That solution is a return to the principles of Christianity. The recognition of the divine element in our being of the true purpose of life, our final destiny, and consequent duty to our Creator and obligations to our fellow men alone will convince men of the dignity of labor and inspire them to honest purpose and efficient effort. That only will relieve work of the element of drudgery, and ambition and success of selfishness. This is especially true of a work like ours.

It was the ambition of the founder of this great institution to establish a hospital in which doctors and surgeons might feel that they are co-laborers with God in the belief of suffering and the promotion of health; in which the nurse would feel that she is called of God to her task, that her's is a vocation and not a mere profession; in which all engaged, however menial the task, would feel that they are serving God, when administering to the comfort and relief of His afflicted; in which the patients would receive the most scientific, sympathetic, loving care possible. This would place the Hospital on the highest possible plane.

It would bring about the best scientific and humanitarian results. It would even transform suffering into a means of grace and spiritual development, and death into a triumph, a stepping stone to a higher state of life. No greater privilege could one crave than that of laboring in a field offering such unbounded opportunities for usefulness and good works.

Although affected not a little by the general conditions, I am happy to say that during the past year my work has received unusual encouragement from members of the Medical Staff, alive to the situation; from pupil nurses who seem to realize the special needs in their calling, and particularly from interested members of the Woman's Board.

Chapel services have been maintained as usual with the twofold object in view, the worship of God and the manifestation of the spirit of Christ in the performance of our various duties. Ward services have been held as opportunity offered. Much of my time has been spent in visiting the patients, to prepare them mentally and spiritually for the ordeals through which they were to pass, to cheer and encourage them and to provide them with suitable reading matter. I have done much follow-up work by personal visits and correspondence. The possibilities in this latter branch of the work are limited only by physical and mental ability.

Among my office acts are 6 Baptisms, 6 Marriages, 5 Burials, 51 Celebrations of the Holy Communion on Sundays, 63 on Holy Days and Week Days and 61 in Private.

I am under great obligations to many friends of the Hospital for donations to the Chapel Library through which patients are supplied with reading matter. To others I wish to express my hearty thanks for flowers and articles used in the Chapel.

Respectfully submitted to the President and Members of the Board of Trustees with sincere thanks for considerations shown me in evidence of their appreciation of my services.

GEORGE DEMING WRIGHT,
Chaplain.

REPORT OF LABORATORIES — PATHOLOGICAL — BACTERIOLOGY—CHEMICAL.

Well organized and efficient laboratory service in a large hospital is essential, and at St. Luke's Hospital the laboratory has gained for itself this standing among the physicians of the community. Although laboratory tests of some kind have been made ever since the hospital came into existence, the laboratory as a unit part began under Dr. T. L. Dagg in December, 1903. He was succeeded in 1908 by C. B. Croy who remained in the laboratory as a worker after Dr. E. R. Le Count was secured as Consulting Pathologist. Shortly after Dr. Le Count assumed charge, a much needed improvement was made by the organization of the laboratory under a well-paid Resident Pathologist with the assistance of Dr. Le Count as Consultant, and for the first of these Residents Dr. D. J. Davis was secured.

This organization, except for a short period during the war, has been maintained up to the present time although the Residents have changed. Dr. Davis being followed after about two years by Dr. A. M. Moody (1913-17), the Drs. George F. and Gladys Henry Dick (1917-19), and by Dr. Edwin F. Hirsch, the present Resident Pathologist who succeeded the Drs. Dick in May, 1919.

This plan of organization of the laboratory work under a Consulting Pathologist and a competent Resident Pathologist has resulted not only in greater precision and promptness as concerns the routine work of the laboratory, but also in some investigation as is shown by the appended titles of published work from the laboratory.

In reviewing these details of management it is worthy of comment that at first the entire laboratory was housed in a single room on the sixth floor of the old part of the Hospital. Now it has ten rooms in another part of this building and these have been so utilized that further enlargement of the work without additional space is practically impossible.

The organization of a clinical hospital laboratory demands a distribution of duties and the assignment of certain examinations to those assistants trained for that work. This furthers accuracy and speed in the work. Under such a scheme the urine, stomach, and stool examinations are made by one assistant, the blood examinations by another, the bacterial examinations by a third, and so on, all of these tests, of course, utilized according to the needs of diagnosis and study of the disease in question. The results of chemical and microscopic examinations of the urine are constantly employed by physicians and surgeons to aid them not only in diagnosis, but also in the treatment; in fact, very few patients are treated in this Hospital for whom some of these examinations are not made. In diabetes, tests for the amount of sugar in the urine made daily are necessary to prescribe rules for diet and to determine the course of the disease. Determining the degree of acidity, or the presence of blood in the stomach with the aid of test meals gives information regarding such conditions as cancer or ulcer of the stomach. The presence of intestinal parasites is determined by finding in the stool the parasite or portions of it, or its ova microscopically. Both chemical and microscopic examinations of the stool are important in many other intestinal diseases such as diarrhoea and cancer, and in disturbances of liver function, in obstructions of the bile passages, and in diseases of the stomach and pancreas.

The results of routine blood examinations are also important. With anemia, a form of blood impoverishment, an estimation of the number of red corpuscles per unit volume and of the amount of hemoglobin are used to determine the severity of the illness, and microscopic examination of the blood in stained preparations gives further information of the type of anemia. Not infrequently the diagnosis of a fever or some obscure disease depends upon an estimation of the number of white cells or leucocytes in the blood and a determination of the relative number of the different forms present. Sometimes the removal of a diseased appendix or some other operation is decided largely by the surgeon knowing the condition of the blood. Leukemia, a disease where the white blood cells of the blood are greatly increased in number, is diagnosed properly only after suitable blood examinations have been made, and the subsequent treatment is directed largely by the results of such examinations repeatedly made.

Bacterial examinations of all kinds are made by the laboratory. It is often necessary to make cultures of the throat to determine the kind of bacterial infection present. This is especially true with diphtheria where recovery depends so much on the timely use of diphtheria antitoxin. Infected fluids and tissues from many sources are cultured in order to determine the bacterial flora. The results of such cultures frequently give valuable information concerning the cause and general nature of the disease. Cultures of the blood are sometimes made to determine the presence of bacteria. This commonly is done in typhoid fever, pneumonia, infectious diseases of the heart, and other acute diseases. Sometimes a diagnosis depends entirely upon finding in this way bacteria present in the circulating blood. The milk received at this Hospital daily is examined for bacteria, and the number contained estimated. Epidemics of sore throat have been traced to bacteria contained and spread by contaminated milk, and at different times such contaminations have been detected early in the laboratory, and the danger promptly eliminated. The economic value of this service is considerable, for sickness among the nurses and attendants entails large expenditures as well as disturbs greatly the routine work of the Hospital.

To provide for the rapid examination of these fluids and tissues for bacteria, it is necessary to have suitable mediums for their cultivation prepared, and proper sterilization containers ready. This demands the necessary equipment for preparation, a large supply of suitable glassware, the proper material for making the mediums, and practically the entire time of one laboratory assistant.

Probably the most helpful laboratory aid to the surgeons at St. Luke's Hospital is the careful examination of tissues removed during their operations. Many times further details concerning the nature of the disease for which an operation was done is discovered by this careful microscopic examination. At other times the surgeon removes a small piece of tissue for diagnosis, and the result of the microscopic examination sometimes saves the patient from a further much more serious operation. Where tissue suspected to contain cancer is removed, an immediate opinion is desired to determine how extensive the operation must be to insure complete and permanent recovery, or to decide if nothing more surgically need be done. Within three to five minutes time, while the surgeon is operating, a small piece of tissue is frozen, sectioned, stained, and a microscopic examination made.

In some diseases, the chemical examination of the blood for the presence and the amount of certain substances furnishes valuable information. These tests represent some of the most recent aids to diagnosis from the work of laboratories. During the past year special effort has been made to develop this work in our laboratory, and in spite of the limited space a small chemical table was built and equipment provided to carry on such examinations. Although somewhat limited in extent at present, a nucleus has been in operation for some time and further growth is confidently expected. It is possible to have the quantity of certain nitrogen containing substances of the blood determined chemically, such as urea, and uric acid, also other substances such as sugar. Among some of the conditions which at the present time are thought to have an important bearing in disease is a change on the alkaline reaction of the body fluids and tissues. This technically is expressed in terms of hydrogenion concentration, and the presence of such changes in tissues and in the blood of patients may be made in our laboratory; also other tests of the blood for the amount of various gases contained, such as the poisonous carbon monoxide in illuminating gas, and the amount of carbon dioxide and oxygen normally present.

Complete spinal fluid examinations and the widely employed Wassermann test of the blood constitute another phase of our laboratory work. These are helpful in detecting syphilis, as well as differentiating this disease from others with somewhat similar symptoms.

To give an idea of the service rendered by the laboratory, the following table indicates the variety, in a measure, as well as the number of examinations made during the year 1919.

Blood counts and hemoglobin estimations.....	4,214
Differential blood examinations.....	803
Gastric analysis	369
Feces examinations	522
Bacterial examinations	4,317
Urine examinations	13,445
Milk examinations (bacterial and chemical)...	295
Surgical specimens examined.....	2,592
Wassermann tests	1,006

Spinal fluid examinations.....	170
Vaccines prepared	36
Chemical tests	1,304
Postmortem examinations	52
Miscellaneous tests	197

29,322

The fact that these various tests and examinations are made at St. Luke's Hospital by trained assistants in no way lessens the value of the training to the resident physicians because all of the work of the laboratory is open to them at all times.

Another service is rendered by the Hospital laboratory in affording men active in the medical profession a place for studying problems arising in their special fields of practice. This has been encouraged in the past and under such arrangements contributions have been made from time to time. It is gratifying to say that the Hospital now receives a small sum of money to further special investigation in the chemistry of the blood, a direction in which at present, investigation in medicine is being prosecuted generally. Problems of this nature as well as of a different character are being undertaken as fast as the facilities provide.

The value of this laboratory as well as the value of similar laboratories in other hospitals to the patients as well as to the attending physicians has become so universally recognized as to need no further comment. Not only are the examinations for the routine work of the Hospital necessary, but what is more important, opportunity for research work must be provided. St. Luke's Hospital ranks among the best in Chicago, and its possibilities for rendering great and permanent service to the community are unlimited. Among the large hospital laboratories in this country St. Luke's is unique in having no permanent endowment for its support, and that its present degree of development has been gained entirely by financial support from the general hospital fund. Its further development to aid modern methods of diagnosis and to provide for selected types of research is one of the most fertile fields for civic and general philanthropy. At present additional space is necessary for expansion, and a commensurate permanent endowment is a paramount need. Such an opportunity for advancing medical science in this community should appeal strongly to those interested in the growth of this Hospital, or in furthering aid to the sick.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE WOMAN'S BOARD.

“It gives me great pleasure to submit the Annual Report of the Woman's Board of St. Luke's Hospital. With the co-operation of the officials of the Hospital, we feel that our work can be of increasing benefit to the Hospital and with the renewal of the Social Service Department, we hope to be able to accomplish a great deal in addition to our regular work. I wish to thank all the members of the Board for their loyal support of all our activities.”

Yours very truly,

MERVYN WINSTON BAUM.

November fifth, 1919.

REPORT OF THE LENTEN SEWING CLASS, 1919.

Eight sewing meetings were held in the Solarium during Lent with an average attendance of fourteen. More work was taken home than usual from the class. The prices for supplies of every kind were almost double that of former years.

The exhibition of completed class work and the Linen Shower were combined and held at the Hospital on the Thursday after Easter, about seventy-five people attending, including a number of the Doctors of the Staff, which was most gratifying.

The deepest appreciation of the Committee in charge and the Chairman is extended to all who assisted and contributed to the Lenten Sewing Class of 1919.

Respectfully submitted,

MAY W. ELDRIDGE,
Chairman.

During the year Mrs. John T. Pirie has again paid for the gymnasium instruction for the nurses, one evening a week. Through the kindness of Mrs. H. H. Walker, the gym has been enlarged and made more convenient and comfortable, and Mrs. Frank X. Walls was again able to obtain the bathing privilege for the nurses at the Chicago Beach Hotel.

From time to time during the year the Committee has provided music for dances, and at the beginning of the year paid the accompanist for the gymnastics, which later was given the nurses by Mrs. Pirie.

In the spring the nurses sitting room was redecorated, and through the kindness of Mrs. McCullough, two comfortable chairs were added to the room. Mr. Quigley, the decorator employed, made us a present of some book shelves.

As in previous years, the expenses incurred for the graduating exercises and reception were met by the committee, and Mrs. Willis again extended her hospitality to the nurses on the day they went to the country to gather daisies.

Respectfully submitted,

BELLE M. BORLAND,
Chairman Nurses Committee.

ETHEL P. WRENN,

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE.

For the year ending October 31st, 1919.

Relative to the following report, I would like to state that while the fiscal year began Oct. 31st, 1918, we did not take the Committee until the early part of January, 1919, and, therefore, are not personally aware of the work done prior to that time.

It gives me pleasure to report the following work done by the Committee.

A total of 11,543 cases came under the jurisdiction of our Committee and were either handled by the Committee direct, or were referred to the various co-operating agencies.

The long list of contributors of money, clothing, personal service and miscellaneous articles for the use of the patients is eloquent proof of the widespread interest being taken in the Social Service Work at St. Luke's.

There was a very generous response to an appeal made early in the year for the loan of motor cars for the transportation of patients to and from the Hospital, railroad depots and their homes, as well as for pure pleasure outings for children and adult patients under our care.

I desire personally to thank the various donors for their interest and support in this work.

Upon assuming office, the following appointments were made.

Mrs. Honore Palmer, Treasurer.

Mrs. A. Watson Armour, in charge of transportation.

Mrs. John H. Winterbotham, charge of decorating.

Miss Anita Blair, Occupational Therapy.

Mrs. John Borden, Entertainment.

Mrs. Hopewell Rogers, old clothes

✓ Mrs. John T. Pirie, new clothes.

And it is to their faithful co-operation with the Chairman that credit is due for the work accomplished during the past year.

Reference to the attached Treasurer's report will show the amount turned over to me, upon my taking the Committee, as $350.62 to which is added Miss Harpster's balance 79.73 $ 430.55

Total receipts, 1/1/19-11/1/19 2,618.75

3,049.30

Deduct, Total Expense

1,985.19

$1,064.11

and after paying out the credit balance in the Special Funds to the individual beneficiaries 196.50

A credit balance is left in the bank on Oct.

31st, 1919 of $867.61

I have also attached to this report a report of the General expenses, as reported to me by Miss Harpster, for the operation of the Social Service work at the Hospital—covering such items as carfare, postage, office supplies, garage rent, etc. This report is marked "E".

The item of $226.18 shown on sheet carrying Treasurer's report as being expenses from Nov. 1st, to Jan. 1st, 1919, represents money received by Miss Harpster, Director Social Service and spent by her direct, for miscellaneous items, and such expenditures are not included in the Treasurer's report as given from January 1st to the end of the fiscal year.

Also such decorating as was done by the Social Service Committee was taken care of by special contributions and does not enter into the Treasurer's report. This also applies to linoleum on the floor, which also was cared for through special contribution. Therefore, should the Board consider these things outside of the scope of Social Service Work, it will be seen that the funds of the Committee were not used for such purposes.

In closing I am particularly desirous of extending to the Members of the Committee, and any and all who may have participated in this work during the year, our grateful appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

SARA CARROLL FIELD.

Chairman.

AIM OF WORK AND BENEFIT DERIVED FROM SAME.

The aim of our work is to choose an occupation chiefly for its power of interesting the patient. The curative and Psychological importance of an occupation is very great, as it does away with the opportunity of self analysis, morbid brooding. In many cases we have found an occupation to do away entirely with unreasonableness and irritability, also to do away with the natural tendency to become confidential and discuss in minute detail symptoms, experiences, doctors, nurses, treatments, causes, mistakes, theories and conclusions, conduct, food, management, etc. Occupation also cheers the patient and restores the nervous balance system.

Rapid results have been shown in the use of the typewriter and weaving of baskets for stiffened fingers, wrists and arms.

The work shop is a valuable aid for exercising injured joints. Driving a plane in the carpenter's work is employed for exercising muscles and joints in both arms and legs. Jig saw work given to patients suffering from dropped foot showed rapid improvement. The Occupation Room also offers a new environment. It takes the patient (who is able to be up certain hours of the day) from other parts of the Hospital which are filled with suggestions of invalidism. All talk of sickness, treatment, past experiences and symptoms are rigidly excluded from the occupation room and while working with the patients in the wards.

Temporary artificial limbs are made in the Occupation work shop to be used until permanent limbs can be secured.

Articles made are kept by the patient, or sent to the craft shop to be sold. The proceeds are given to the patient, or if discharged, sent to him.

Odd pieces of silk, cretonne, velvets, etc. are utilized in the making of rugs, lining baskets, making stuffed animals and rag dolls: cigar boxes, for toy construction and utility boxes, etc. Tin cans (coffee and tea) for decorating to be used for sweetmeat boxes, camping tins, cookie tins, etc.

An elective course for nurses in the third year is given, which consists of two months work with the occupational instructor. Morning sessions—shop methods and practical work with craft problems and their applications. Afternoon sessions—teaching patients in the wards.

Student nurses are given a three month course. One-half hour lecture each week on the Functions of Occupational Therapy. One-half hour a week for practical construction work; with the privilege of coming into the occupation room during any time off duty.

Volunteer workers are desired if they are dependable, patient, and have a knowledge of one, or more crafts, or needle work.

AS TO

ENDOWED ROOMS AND BEDS

A donation of $5,000 endows a bed in a ward with the right to name the bed in perpetuity, but without the right to nominate occupants for the bed.

A donation of $7,500 endows a bed in a ward with the right to name the bed in perpetuity and the right to nominate the occupants of the bed during the lifetime of the endower.

A donation of $10,000 endows a private room with the right to name the room in perpetuity, but without the right to nominate the occupants of the room.

A donation of $25,000 endows a private room with the right to name the room in perpetuity and the right to nominate the occupants of the room during the lifetime of the endower.

The right to nominate the occupants of a bed or room shall be understood to mean:

That the endower shall have the right to nominate one patient at a time to occupy the said bed or room, and if all beds or rooms are occupied to a preference over all other applicants when a vacancy occurs.

In the event that an endowed bed or room is occupied the Hospital reserves the right to place the patient in some other equally good bed or room.

Persons nominated to free beds or rooms should be worthy subjects for such charity.

Persons whose means admit of their paying for hospital care and treatment are not acceptable as occupants of free beds.
